Make these pages yours

Explore the subject

This book contains 20 different pictures. Look for the features that make each subject special. Each picture has a short fact, with its source listed at the back.

Print and colour

Use the A4 edition with matching paper. Print at actual size (100%). For markers, use one-sided printing and place a spare sheet underneath. Physical printing has not been tested.

Use the matching guide

Every guide page has the same outlines as its colouring page. The guide shows one possible palette. You can notice the suggested colours or choose your own.

Try the Colouring Studio

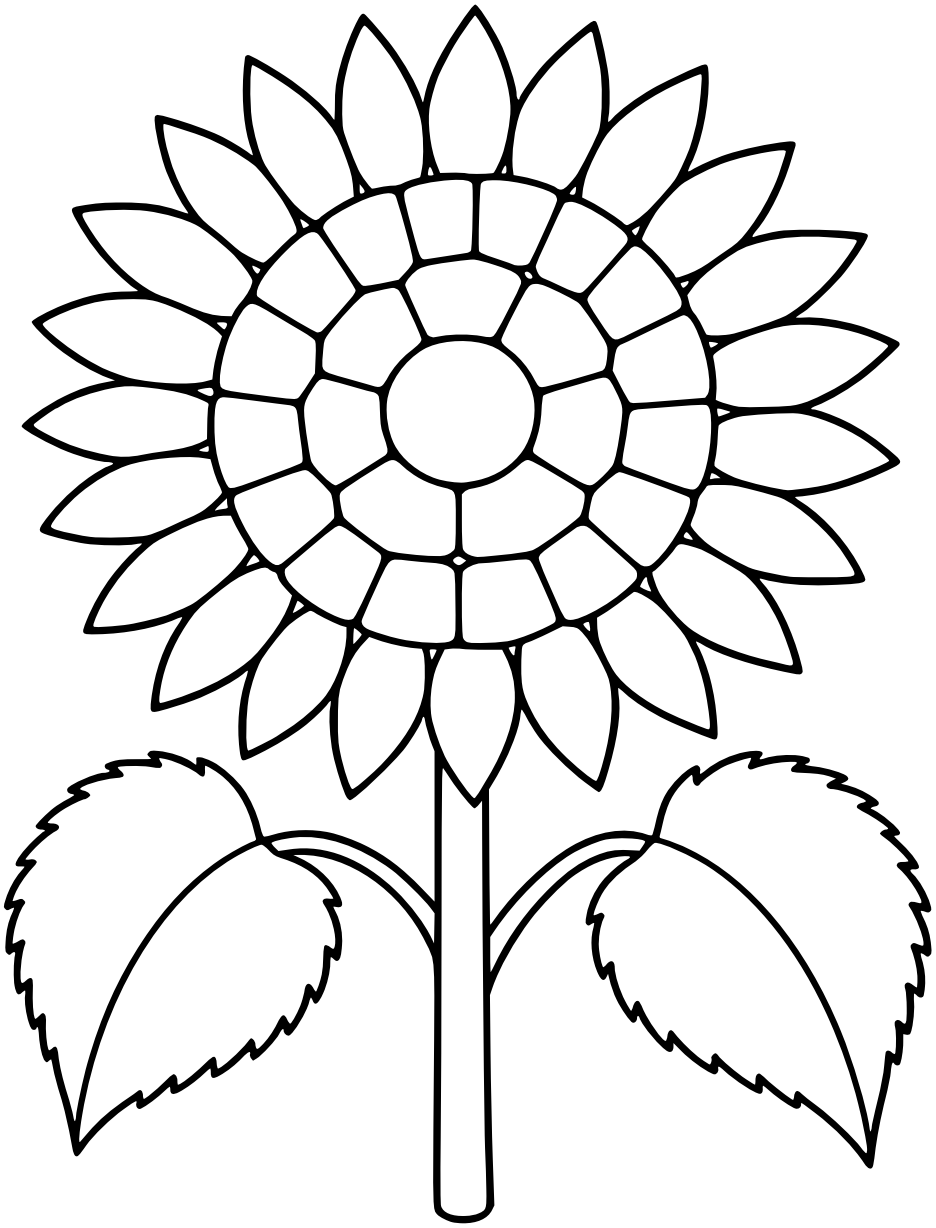
Open the ZIP and visit puddleleafstudio.com/studio/. Choose Load a bought book and select the included .colourbook file. The Studio imports that companion file, not PDFs or ZIPs. Your drawings stay in this browser on this device; export finished pictures as backups. Zoom in when colouring fine details.

About the pictures

These are simplified illustrations for colouring. The short facts describe the specific subject or illustrated type. Look at living plants without tasting them. Some plants in this book are poisonous.

Sunflower

PICTURE 01 OF 20

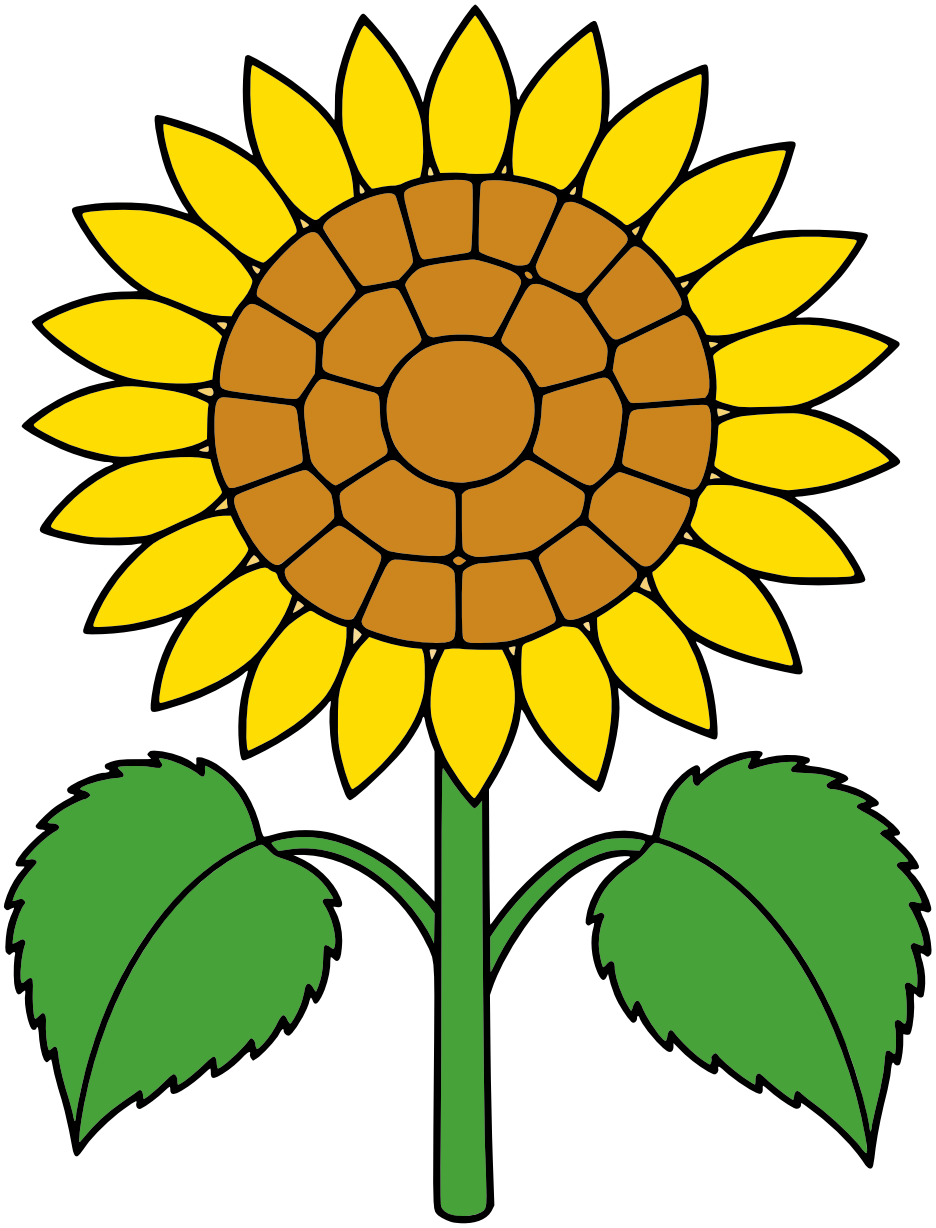


DID YOU KNOW?

Young sunflowers turn back towards the east at night, ready for sunrise! An inner clock helps guide their growing stems. Once the flowers mature, they usually stop turning and face east.

Sunflower

PICTURE 01 OF 20



DID YOU KNOW?

Young sunflowers turn back towards the east at night, ready for sunrise! An inner clock helps guide their growing stems. Once the flowers mature, they usually stop turning and face east.

One possible palette. Your colours can be different.